

WALK A WHILE NEWS - June 2020

The Cross Project:

All the geo-tech work has been completed and the base plate for the Cross is now at the top of the mountain, ready for us to lay the concrete foundations. The photo above shows where the Cross will be located. You will see some local children next to the marker which has been placed right where the Cross will be built, on top of Memory Mountain. The COVID-19 travel restrictions have stopped us from continuing with the work on the mountain for the past 2 months, but we have been making progress in other areas.

We have purchased another Suzuki Vitara that will be modified to help in the process of getting all the Cross components up the Mountain ready for assembly. Our Bobcat has been taken into town for maintenance so it will be ready for work as soon as we can recommence.

As soon as the lock downs are lifted, we are ready go to ... but ...

... we still need additional finance to complete fabrication of the Cross components and then to erect it so that when we come out of COVID we will come out victorious.

Can you help? You can go to the DONATE page of our website to support this important project.

Once the Cross is completed it will become one of Australia's major tourist icons, bringing much needed revenue into isolated Indigenous communities. This project is crucial in helping our Indigenous people gain financial independence, as it will create many new businesses and new job opportunities.

Any financial donation you can give will be gratefully received and will allow us to complete this important project on behalf of the Indigenous people of central Australia.

The Cross is THEIR project and they are praying it will be completed very soon.

Another way you can help is by passing this news on to anyone you think may be interested in helping to bring the dream of our Indigenous people to fruition.
